An Investment in Good Government

Every day, the REALTORS® Political Action Committee (RPAC) works to educate our local, state and federal officeholders about key issues like:

- The importance residential housing and commercial property has on our economic health
- Maintaining a business environment that is conducive to the residential and commercial real estate profession
- The failure of point of sale requirements in actually improving housing stock
- The roadblock to homeownership which is created by increased transfer taxes
- The need to find common sense solutions to the regulation of septic systems
- Ensuring real estate commissions and real estate related services are not subject to the state sales tax

The Power of Your Investment

More than 520,000 investors strong, RPAC is the team that drives influence for real estate among elected officials and candidates in America.

RPAC invests some $40 million in federal, state and local elections each election cycle to protect your investment in real estate.

The Voice for Real Estate® will be heard!
